

AHO: Allies for a Healthier Oregon

A program of We Can Do Better

AHO works with over 60 organizations and individuals, including grassroots and culturally-specific entities, government agencies, health care providers, and groups working on a variety of social determinants of health. Our focus is on community-engaged movement-building to facilitate collective impact. AHO invites a range of stakeholders at monthly meetings, and we constantly seek to understand what others care about and are advocating for.

BACKGROUND:

Allies for a Healthier Oregon (AHO) formed in 2011, evolving from previous allies' work, most notably the Oregon Health Action Campaign. It is a program of We Can Do Better (WCDB), a statewide non-profit civic engagement organization founded in 2006 by Governor John Kitzhaber as the Archimedes Movement. Our mission is to create opportunities for nonpartisan civic education and engagement. Our vision is that informed, engaged citizens will find the way to better health care and health for all.
